

Facebook as a Challenge to our Privacy

by Panagopoulou Fereniki

The paper provides an analysis of the law and policy of privacy on social network sites, using Facebook as its principal example. It explains how Facebook users socialize on the site, why they misunderstand the risks involved, and how their privacy suffers as a result. It also emphasises the need for a new concept of privacy.